

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reproducing apparatus displays representative images of clips recorded on a recording medium in list form, reproduces part of data after a front end
5 of the clip corresponding to the representative image selected from among the displayed representative images from the recording medium to store the part of the data in a memory, and starts readout of the part of data stored in the memory in response to a 10 reproduction start instruction.